Now ready, at the "Daily Press" Office, PART FIRST, OF A NEW ANGLO CHINESE DICTIONARY, QUARTO, BY THE REV. W. LOBSCHEID. COURT AND PUNTI DIALECTS.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

THIS WORK was commenced in November, 1864, the computation of the author then being that it could be comprised in one thousand four hundred pages and would occupy two years. Many unlooked for obstructions, chiefly of a typographical nature, materially retarded the progress of the work in the first instance, and these being overcome, the author discovered that he had underestimated the extent and the importance of the vast task he had undertaken, and that it would occupy fully double the time and space which he had at the outset computed.

The publication of a work of such magnitude, and presenting so many and such varied obstacles, seldom falls to the limited resources of one single individual, as occurs in this case. The first part of the work is now issued, partly at the request of the author and partly to afford the Foreign Community of China an opportunity of extending that assistance to the publisher, which under the circumstances is usually so freely accorded.

The price of the book complete, will be $30, and it will be published in four parts at $7.50 each. But this objection presents itself to the sale of the parts separately, should the purchaser of one or more parts not take the others, a number of incomplete, and consequently valueless, copies will be left on the publisher's hands. To remedy this objection, in consideration of the circumstances already alluded to, it is hoped that those who see fit to patronise the undertaking by purchasing the first part, will not object to signing an engagement to take the remaining parts as they appear, or should they prefer it, to pay for the entire work in advance.

I THE Undersigned, after having spent Fifteen Years in COMMERCIAL PURSUITS in China, have been compelled by unfortunate circumstances to establish myself as OPIUM INSPECTOR AND GENERAL BROKER, and trust by proper attention to my business to deserve a portion of the patronage of the Mercantile Community of Hongkong.

PUBLIC AUCTION.

SHANGHAI WHARF COMPANY.

All the VALUABLE FREEHOLD, known as the Shanghai Wharf Company, consisting of about 50 mow of ground, and having a water frontage of over 1,200 feet.

THE Directors have decided to offer the above property for sale by Public Competition, on the 12th day of December, 1866, at 3 o'clock P.M.

WEDNESDAY,

On Premises to be hereafter named—

The above valuable property, which will be sold in one lot, is situated on the right Bank of the river Wang-poo, near to the lower limit of the port, and where the river is wide and deep.

The area of the property is about fifty mow, the inland boundaries being enclosed in a complete and substantial corrugated iron fence.

There are two covered Piers, one of 180 feet by 150 feet, the other 180 feet by 180 feet, and a coaling pier of 160 feet by about 300 feet, alongside which vessels of 1,000 tons can load or discharge cargo at any state of the tide.

Upon the Ground are erected the following buildings—

A Ten Godown, Brick and Tiled, 150 feet by 50, feet and floored with wood.

One Produce Godown, 138 feet by 50, Brick and Tiled, floored with granite.

A large Tiled Shed of 140 feet by 90 capable of stowing 2,000 tons of Rice or other bulky Merchandize.

A Two Storied Iron Godown, measuring 150 feet by 40, and capable of storing large quantities of Bale or Cased Goods.

A convenient Dwelling House, containing Compradore's room, General Office, and three living rooms, with Verandah, and enjoying a Southern aspect.

A small Coal Shed.

A Two Storied Brick building, tiled, containing dwelling rooms for Watchmen, Boatmen, Coolies, &c. &c., and a Chinese Building upon the coaling yard.

The premises have been so planned that they would divide into three Wharves, each having a river frontage of about 400 feet, and a landing pier, or the whole could be worked as one establishment most economically by laying down tramways.

The facilities for the rapid loading or discharging of vessels at these premises are almost too well known to require comment. Steamers can be coaled at the rate of 30 tons per hour, and vessels of 1,000 tons discharged in a comparatively few working hours.

In addition to the freehold will be sold, at the same time and place, all the working stock, consisting of Office Furniture, Tramways, Trucks, Fire Engine, Turn Tables, Weighbridge, Cranes, Hand Platform, Scales and Weights, Beam ditto, Hand Trucks, Lamps, Buckets, Shovels, Winches, Corrugated Iron, Roofing Felt, Spouting, Drain Pipes, and a variety of Sundries. Also, about 50 Hardwood piles, 12 X 12 and upwards, and from 31 to 46 feet in length, Oregon Pine Timber, Hard Wood Beams, Planks and Dunnage, full particulars of which will appear in Catalogues.

A Boat complete, with 4 oars, rowlocks, cushions, awnings, &c., &c.

By order,
J. BROADHURST TOOTAL,
Agent.

From whom full particulars can be obtained.

FOR SALE, AT SAIGON.

SEVERAL Lots of LAND, some with and some others without buildings, all admirably well situated, viz:—

LOT 1.—One Lot of 1,751 square metres, at the junction of the Saigon River, in the Chinese arroy, facing the Messageries Imperiales premises, near the Post Office; the Semaphore in a most central place, with a small old building let to Messrs. Michel & Co., at a rental of $65 per month.

LOT 2.—Four Lots, together 2,340 square metres, angle of Rue de l'Imperatrice and the Chinese arroy, with a small old building let for 18 months at $35 per month.

LOT 3.—One Lot 4,418 square metres, angle of Rue Catinat and Quai Napoleon facing the Rue Catinat. This plot of land can easily be divided into four nice lots; there are on it, Yards, Sheds, and Buildings, and on one of the most frequented streets, the shops on it, 27 in number, are let at an average of $25 each per month (only one uninhabited). There are also 2 large godowns and a pretty pagoda, in perfect condition, corner of Rue Catinat and Rue Vannier, estimated by itself at $5,000.

LOT 4.—On the prolongation of Quai du Cayan, facing the Chinese arroys and on the prolongation of the Rue Lefevre, four lots, together 6,683 square metres. On these plots are now the stores of encampment, and some plank buildings, let each at $2 per month, very well situated on the border of the arroy facing 2 streets, and offering great advantages for a large establishment.

LOT 5.—In the large and populous town of Cholen, a few miles from Saigon, a lot of ground enclosed in Street Jaccario, and a few metres from the Chinese arroy, and the big bridge which leads on to the other side of the river, measuring 1,524 square metres. A building on this lot in very good order. The whole is let to Messrs. A. Eymond and D. Henry at $50 per month.

The sale will take place about the end of December, 1866, or the beginning of January, 1867

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, DECEMBER 7, 1866.

WHAT can the Mint Commission be about? We forget how many months it has been holding a sort of Coroners' inquest on the establishment at East Point, but at any rate time enough has elapsed, for it to have gone home, and sat upon the Royal Mint in London, to have come back and reported and even for the report to have been printed in the Government Gazette. The non-appearance of the report in the Gazette is of course evidence that it has not been sent in. There is no likelihood that when once sent in the Government would have suppressed it because of any distasteful conclusions it might contain. A publication brought out in this town, the Overland Trade Report by name, stated a few days ago, that a rumor was abroad to the effect that the report of the Commission had been sent in and was being held back. The readiness of newspaper writers to attribute acts of this kind to a Government is extraordinary. We repudiate the idea that the Government would hold back a document so interesting to the public as the report in question. In the very next number of the Gazette, after it was sent in, it would of course appear and the continued silence of that interesting and widely circulated organ, leads directly to the assumption that no one is to blame, but the Commission.

The curious part of the matter is that in spite of a stedfast determination not to believe in the suppression of the document, we have strangely clear and defined impressions concerning its contents which could only have arisen if it actually had been sent in long enough ago for those contents to have leaked or oozed out, and have found their way in some mysterious manner to this office. We are taught to accept many beliefs which are inscrutable, however, and this reflection must explain the apparent contradiction involved in believing that the delay in the appearance of the report is all the fault of the Commission, and also that the report is in existence and contains some unforeseen conclusions. Broadly the report recommends,—(for convenience we will deal at present only with the theory that it is already and has been for some time in the hands of the Government,) to come at once to its main conclusion, it recommends that the Mint should not yet be closed. It points out that the colony is under obligations to the officers of the Mint which would preclude the idea of effecting economy in the expenditure by closing the establishment to-morrow. It costs us no more to keep it going for some time longer in the hope that some change in the conditions of trade may give it a new chance of life, than to abandon the attempt at once. At present of course the whole place is paralysed and doing absolutely nothing, but it has been found by the Commission to be a very perfect and well organised institution in the hands of a man to whose skill and ability it owes everything which is promising in its constitution. The Report will be found to pay high compliments to Captain KINDER. It will probably leave to be inferred rather than openly express that better results might have been achieved if he had been allowed his own way from the first, but the comprehensive essay on the chances of a coined currency in China which it forms, will most likely tend to the conclusion that the empire would be more willing to take a Tael piece than a dollar, and if we are not misinformed, a proposal to try Tael pieces, and even a design for the coin, emanated some time ago from East Point, and has not received the approval of the Colonial Government. The Commission will probably have discovered that when the Mint was introduced here, the scheme was very imperfectly understood by officials in this colony. Even Sir HERCULES ROBINSON did not fully grasp the ideas of the Treasury at Home, and no practical man acquainted with Commerce in China was concerned in London with the arrangement of details. Perhaps, it would be more accurate to say that the only practical man who was consulted failed to give the Treasury the hints which might have been expected from him. The Hongkong Mint, in fact, has been from first to last the embodiment of the theory worked out in the Colonial Office, and what makes the matter worse is that the man who conceived the theory died before its actual development. It is only now that the actual chances of a currency in China are fairly appreciated, it is only by the light of the mistakes which have been made in the course of its introduction that the way in which it might be made a success, is disclosed.

Our fundamental mistake has been the adoption of the dollar. It is only to a very limited extent that the Chinese comprehend the dollar as a dollar. All over the empire except here and there at the outskirts the dollar is simply a lump of silver weighing less than a tael. The influx of Mexican dollars into this country, when the great demand for the Japan trade arose was simply an influx of so much silver, did not show that dollars were popular in China, but simply that an immense demand for bullion had arisen, and that Mexican dollars were at a discount in Europe and America as compared with bar silver, so that it was cheaper to ship them to this country than to send the metal in any other form. When the Chamber of Commerce was consulted by the Commission it held a meeting and deliberated on the matter and finally passed a resolution to the effect, that the Hongkong Dollar currency, would be very useful, if the Chinese would take it. Of course this profound and concisely expressed conclusion is unassailable and was naturally of the greatest possible use in enabling the Commission to make up its mind as to its recommendations. However, inverted and applied to facts its illustrates this point to which we were referring. The Chinese will not take the dollar as a dollar, and therefore the dollar currency is of no use. The conclusion of the committee on this point we believe to be that the currency must be sanctioned by the Chinese Government all over the empire as the only legal tender for customs duties if the Mint is to be a great and permanent success. With a dollar currency, this is manifestly impossible. The concession recently made at Canton amounts to nothing. Of course the Hongkong dollar is a legal tender for the weight of pure silver which it contains. Melted into slines it would be that. It is possible to conceive however, if the Mint coined Tael pieces of pure silver made as difficult of imitation as possible, that the Chinese Government might see its interest in insisting on having its payments made in this convenient shape. Of course a currency of any kind, if the Chinese would only be civilised enough to see it would be an immense improvement on the clumsy system of bartering goods for so much bullion, but you cannot civilise them up to a perception of this at a blow. You must draw them on by degrees, and the way of doing this is manifestly to adapt the currency to the customs of the country, to the weights and values familiar to the people already. The probability of inducing the Chinese Government to favor the Hongkong currency to the extent indicated, seems certainly rather remote, but it is clear that it cannot be done until the Tael piece is actually before the public, and this reflection plainly points to the course which it would be wise for the Government to adopt as soon as it can beg or borrow a shilling's worth of silver. It is satisfactory to find that the Commission speaks so highly of the Mint's resources, and of its mechanical capabilities. The actual analysis of the daily expenses of the Mint and the daily production of which it is capable when in full work, points to a large and certain profit if silver were only sent in, in sufficient quantities. The difficulties of the Mint are thus narrowed to the problems connected with introducing a currency in China.

The Hongkong and Canton Telegraph Scheme.

Dr. Macgowan, of whose schemes in connexion with the introduction of electric telegraphy into China, we have already taken notice, was not here long; before he brought his proposal before the Chamber of Commerce, requesting that the influence of that body might be exerted, with the foreign Consuls of Canton to secure their support of his application to the Viceroy for permission to construct a telegraphic line between Hongkong and Canton. The Chamber complied with his request, and addressed a communication to each of the Consuls. The English Consul was absent at the time, but the French Consul secured for Dr. Macgowan, an interview with the Viceroy which led to a favorable result as will be seen by the following correspondence.

HONGKONG GENERAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

SIR,—I take the liberty of addressing you, by order of this Chamber, on a subject which I feel fully convinced will have your valuable support. I refer to telegraphic communication which is about to be inaugurated under the auspices of the East India Company's Commissioner Dr. Macgowan. This gentleman will no doubt pay his respects to you personally, and explain more in detail, the object that has brought him to China, so that I need not go further into the matter. My especial desire in now addressing you, is to solicit your interest and support, in laying the point of telegraphic communication before His Excellency the Viceroy at Canton, and to urge upon him, the great benefit that would result, from a line, between this port and that city. Dr. Macgowan is perfectly ready to commence upon it, as soon as a concession is granted.

I feel that there are great difficulties in the way, but those are not unlikely to be surmounted if you bring your influence to bear on His Excellency. Leaving the matter therefore in your hands, I have the honor to be Sir,—Your most obedient servant.

(Signed) JOHN DENT, Chairman.

CONSULATE DE FRANCE A CANTON.

CANTON, le 28ème Novembre, 1866.

SIR,—I had the honor to receive at Hongkong, the letter addressed to me by you on the 23rd November, by order of the General Chamber of Commerce, to request my support near H. E. the Viceroy of Canton for the proposed establishment of a telegraphic communication between this port and Hongkong, under the direction of Dr. Macgowan, Commissioner of the East India Telegraph Company, and I lost no time on my return here, (on the 26th) to procure an interview with H. E. which took place the next day—the 27th.

I fully explained to H. E. the advantages of such a mode of communication, not only for its benefit to the foreign community, and advantages in commercial transactions between nations, but perhaps more on account of its undoubted utility to the Chinese Authorities, as it would enable them to secure immediate information in reported cases of piracy, smuggling and local disturbances.

I laid before the Viceroy many inducements having reference to the material interests involved in the projected enterprise, and I had the unexpected satisfaction to succeed in drawing the most serious attention of H. E. to the scheme and to bear from him that as far as he was concerned, he was ready to give it all the support in his power.

Nevertheless, H. E. declined to assume the responsibility of making the desired concession from apprehension touching ill will on the part of portions of the population, owing to their ignorance of the value of improvements and to the strength of their secular prejudices; in consequence of which, he considered it necessary to communicate with the chief of the Tsung-li Yamun at Pekin, to obtain his consent.

But H. E. pledged himself to give his full adhesion to the scheme, when presenting it to the appreciation of the Tsung-li Yamun, and he distinctly stated that in case of a favorable answer which he greatly hoped to obtain, the enterprise might rely entirely upon his best protection.

These promises, I am happy to say, were made in the presence of Mr. Macgowan, who, having been admitted to the audience, was able owing to his good knowledge of the Chinese language to understand the questions of my Interpreter and the answer of the Viceroy.

H. E. will address a communication immediately to Pekin but he does not expect to have any answer in less than two months time.

Allow me in conclusion to acknowledge the honor which in the name of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce you have conferred on me by confiding to my support an undertaking of such magnitude to the interests of China, and of China and foreign commerce. I shall endeavor to keep the subject before the Viceroy and to explain it to the Governor, who like the Viceroy, is a man of energy and favorable to progress. In like manner I shall bring the matter before the Superintendent of Customs in order to excite a general interest in Dr. Macgowan's great undertaking.—I have the honor &c. &c. &c.

(Signed) G. DE TRANQUALYE. H. I. M. Consul.

Honorable John Dent,
Chairman of the General Chamber of Commerce of Hongkong.

Manning of the Royal Navy.

(From the "Examiner.")

In the naval intelligence of the Times of October 16th appeared this disagreeable announcement:—

"The supply of seamen for the Royal Navy, which for some time past has been gradually decreasing, has at length reached what appears to be the minimum point, no men being now available for the immediate commission and manning of any ship in either of the great ports of outfit. The Mersey frigate is waiting commission at Portsmouth but there are no men for her, and supposing she were required to proceed to sea within forty-eight hours notice, her crew of seamen could not be supplied to her from the usual legitimate sources, even were the whole of our home port laid under contribution."

Why have matters been allowed to come to this pass? What is the use of building ships, and providing reliefs, while the men to man them are not to be had? To know the reason why must be the first step towards remedy, and certain we are that it will be found in the unnecessarily strict and harassing discipline. Naval officers now are very much what naval officers were three centuries ago, soldiers on board ship, and they give an undue proportion of their care to the military part of the business. Hence the men are worried with drill without any discrimination between those who want it and those who want it not. The office of Master has tended to the separation between the nautical and military duties of ships, and to make captains more busy in the latter department than is desirable. After a crew has been made efficient, all endeavours at super-excellence are fatal to contentment. Steam has also had its tendency to naval martinet-ship, it has diminished if not superseded the business of seamanship, and reduced the decks to parade grounds. It may be said that these causes of discontent are fanciful or of slight effect, but it would be well to clear up the question by an examination of the men, free from all influences. And an inquiry of this sort is not less necessary in the army than the navy, for both services are made unpopular by worry, and requiring perfection in insignificant details. The Times of the 19th had the following authorised contradiction of statements to the same effect as the passage we have quoted from its Naval Intelligence:—

"We are authorised to mention that the statements which have been made in several newspapers to the effect that the Admiralty have no men in reserve for any ships which may be commissioned are not correct."

This is what lawyers call a negative pregnant. It simply denies that the Admiralty have no men in reserve for any ships which may be commissioned, which might be strictly true if they had only a single man in reserve. It would be more satisfactory to learn that the Admiralty could command the services of as many men as they wanted.

Police Intelligence, December 6th.

BEFORE F. W. MITCHELL, Esq.

A FEMALE IN TROUBLE.

Choy-see-loy, an elderly female, was charged with acting in the capacity of look out or watchwoman to the gamblers in First Street, Tai-pin-shan.

Inspector Balgay, stated that at about 7.30 this morning while walking in East Street he saw the prisoner seated on a stool at the corner of First Street, a short distance from where twenty or thirty men were gambling; on seeing him she at once gave the alarm and the gamblers decamped leaving some mats behind them; she is well known in the neighbourhood, and while in hospital, witness has repeatedly noticed her giving the alarm to gamblers on the approach of the police.

Prisoner denied the charge, she said she was walking quietly along the street, when the inspector gave her a push and took her in charge, but the magistrate refused to believe this and committed her to gaol for fourteen days as a rogue and vagabond, she was taken from the dock loudly declaiming at the sentence.

ASSAULT IN A BROTHEL.

John Conform, a native of Valparaiso, seaman on board the British ship W. J. Russell, was charged with being drunk, entering a brothel and assaulting the inmates.

Lee achoy, stated that she was an inmate of the brothel No. 9, in East Street, Tai-pin-shan, last evening about six o'clock, prisoner came to the brothel, but had no money, and on being refused permission to remain there he struck her several blows on the left side, so she called a constable and gave him in charge.

Chun-kum-chi, aged eleven years, a servant in the brothel, deposed to the truth of the above statement with a few additions.

Prisoner said that he did not remember anything at all about it as he was drunk at the time.

P. C. Sanders, No. 42, stated that prisoner was given in his charge by the first witness, and was slightly inebriated at the time.

Prisoner, a most repulsive looking individual, stated that he had paid prosecutrix half a dollar, and that she then ran away from him, this statement however he could not substantiate and the magistrate fined him $5, for what he designated as a cowardly attack on an unprotected female.

NUISANCES.

The new Inspector of nuisances, Mr. Henry Jones, charged two coolies with committing a nuisance by leaving two night soil buckets exposed at the foot of the Civil Hospital, Queen's Road, at 9 a.m., uncovered, and contrary to the ordinance. He stated that Doctor Murray, had several times complained of the nuisance continually committed in this manner, witness saw quite a crowd of them this morning but the rest effected their escape.

Prisoners had no defence except that it was only seven o'clock when they were arrested, but the contrary having been satisfactorily proved by Inspector Jones, they were fined $1 each.

STREET GAMBLING.

Yow-alin, boatman unemployed, was charged, with a number of others not in custody with street gambling and making a disturbance in Wanchi.

Sergeant Landers, stated that at about half past nine he saw prisoner and a large number of others, gambling and making a disturbance in Ship Street, Wanchi, the rest escaped, but witness managed to secure the prisoner with mat, cash &c., produced; they were making a great noise, quarrelling, and seemed near coming to blows.

Prisoner of course denied the charge, and stated that he was walking quietly along the street when arrested, but Landers being quite sure that he had actually seen him in the act of gambling, the magistrate inflicted a punishment of fourteen days imprisonment as a warning.

OBSTRUCTION.

Lee-tai-yow, boatman, was charged with obstruction of the Western side of Pedders' Wharf.

P. C. 85, said that at 6 a.m. yesterday, prisoner was lying alongside the wharf and was told several times to clear out and would not do so, but would only shove off to a little distance and evade the constable and then come alongside again in a few minutes, about 11 o'clock, however witness made a report to the water police boat and they arrested him.

The old excuse of landing passengers, was adduced and a witness called to prove this, but the constable was positive of their being no passengers at all in the matter.

Quock-atai, stated herself to be owner of the boat but did not appear to know much about the matter, and as the constables' evidence was very diffuse and unsatisfactory the magistrate gave prisoner the benefit of the doubt, and discharged him with a caution not to come before him again.

The same constable also brought a similar charge against another boatman named Sea-shing. This individual stated that his boat was not near Pedders' Wharf at all yesterday, but alongside the French mail boat, but this appeared to be untrue as the constable had taken the number of his boat, which he could not have done under those circumstances, and as prisoner had been previously fined for the same offence a fine of fifty cents was inflicted on this occasion.

NO PASS.

Lo-lum-tuck, servant at the civil hospital, with three other men and a Chinese female, were charged with wandering abroad last night without the requisite pass.

P. C. 119, Sheik Abraham, deposed to arresting the first man at about a quarter past eleven last night in Queen's Road West near the civil hospital, and this individual being looked upon in the light of a public servant and one who ought to set an example, was fined $1.

The other three men were arrested between two and three o'clock this morning in Tai-pin-shan, near No. 8 station, there were rather suspicious looking characters but nothing particular was known against them and they were let off with a fine of fifty cents each, and the woman was fined $1.

HAWKING WITHOUT A LICENSE.

Leong-ayan, was charged with hawking fish without a license on Pedder's Wharf at seven o'clock this morning, trying to sell his fish to the boat people, he was told that people who pay for licenses must be protected and fine of fifty cents was inflicted.

UNLAWFUL POSSESSION.

Lee-ahing, described as a hawker, was charged with being in possession of a number of square iron bars of which no reasonable account could be given.

P. C. 179 deposed to arresting prisoner at eight o'clock this morning; he saw a boat with three men in it, who were discharging iron from the boat onto the Praya; on the constables approach the boat shoved off in a hurried manner, and prisoner had not time to jump on board her, so witness arrested him on suspicion, at that time he stated that he had bought the iron but could not point out the place where the purchase had been effected.

Prisoner made the same statement in court, he bought it afloat but does not know from whom, he paid 16 cash a catty for it, the people he bought it of said that they had received it from a European who had no money, as boat hire, but his worship did not believe this rather improbable story and the case was remanded for a week to enable this police to find an owner for the property.

A DANGEROUS CHARACTER.

Ng-ayat, coolie, was charged with burglariously attempting to enter a house for felonious purposes also with being a suspicious character and dangerous to the peace and good order of the Colony.

P. C. 59 Henry Paton, stated that being on duty in Queen's Road West at about three o'clock this morning, he saw prisoner come out of an alley way near the "Liverpool Arms" tavern, and slink across the Queen's Road, witness stood and watched him and saw him go to the house No. 329, kneel down and try to pull open the door, he had already succeeded in pulling off two planks when witness who thought the game had been carried on quite long enough went over and arrested him, he is not known to the inmates of this house and gave various contradictory accounts of himself.

Wong-sing-yow, widow, living on the third floor of the house mentioned by the constable, has no knowledge of the prisoner whatever.

This was an unfortunate witness for the prisoner, as he had just made a statement to the effect, that he went to call on a friend of his who lived on the third floor.

Chee-a-lin, married woman, living on the second floor of the same house, also knows nothing whatever of the prisoner, who brought as a witness, a a mat packer whom the two female witnesses recognised as residing on the third floor, his name was Loo-a-lap, and he stated that he has known the prisoner for about four years, and he is also a mat packer; prisoner is constantly in the habit of visiting him. It appears that this witness had been trying to tamper with the two women, and the magistrate refused to believe a word he said, and fined him $5 for contempt of court, or in default to be imprisoned for ten days, which seemed rather to astonish that individual.

The magistrate considered that prisoner was caught in the act of entering the house for an unlawful purpose, and committed him to gaol for two months, as a rogue and vagabond.

FIGHTING AND DISTURBANCE.

Chun-a-tuck, boatman, and Wong-a-see, married woman, were charged as above.

Lukong No. 47, deposed to arresting the two prisoners fighting in Tung-mun Lane, at about 8 P.M. yesterday.

The first prisoner stated that he was walking along when he accidentally ran against the second, who turned round and commenced to abuse him, he answered her back, and they came to high words.

They were fined $1 each, or in default to be imprisoned for five days.

LARCENY OF CLOTHING.

Mak-a-sing, hawker, was charged with stealing a pair of trousers from one Ow-a-chung, shopkeeper, Wanchi.

P. C. 333, deposed that at about 4.30 P.M. yesterday, while standing outside the Wanchi Market, he saw prisoner running up from the direction of the Praya, with the pair of trousers now produced, in his possession, witness pursued and caught him, afterwards led him back in the direction from which he had first seen him running, and they met a man who said that the trousers belonged to him, and had been snatched while hanging up to dry.

Ho acheong, master of the Yuen-kee shop, near the market, Wanchi, identified the trousers produced as his property, he last saw them safe at about half past four yesterday, and next saw them in the possession of prisoner who was in charge of the constable.

Prisoner stated that he was walking past prosecutor's house and saw a woman hanging up the trousers to dry, he accidentally knocked down the bamboo on which they were hanging, and so stopped to pick them up, he has been here since the commencement of the present Chinese new year, and gets his living by hawking.

He was remanded to to-morrow in order that inquiries may be made as to his antecedents.

STREET GAMBLING.

Cheong-aquai, licensed hawker, Tai-pin-shan, was charged with gambling in Circular Pathway.

P. C. Chun-aquong, stated that about 2.30 P.M. prisoner and several others were committing the offence complained of, and he arrested this man out of the crowd; it was a peculiar style of gambling, prisoner was taking oranges from his basket and holding them up one by one to the bystanders, who were guessing at the number of pips inside, and the one who guessed right got the orange, prisoner who had been previously brought up on a similar charge, was now fined $1.

AN UNLICENSED BROTHEL.

Leong-asam, who described herself as a married woman, was charged with being mistress of an unlicensed brothel and keeping a diseased woman in her house for the purpose of prostitution.

Theodore Tester, a gunsmith residing in Wellington Street, was the person who preferred the charge, and he stated that he visited the prisoner's house about ten days ago and three days afterwards he discovered that he was affected by venereal disease, last night he went to the house again, took the same girl to his house and then gave her in charge.

Inspector Langdon produced a medical certificate from Dr. Murray and stated that he knew prisoner to have kept an unlicensed brothel for years.

Prisoner denied ever seeing prosecutor before last night and called a witness to strengthen her case, who also deposed to the truth of this statement.

The case was remanded for a week to enable Inspector Langdon to get further evidence if possible.

William Brown, carpenter unemployed, who was charged on Tuesday last with an attempted fraud on the Chartered Mercantile Bank, by presenting a paper to V. Julian, the boarding house keeper, alleged to have been written and signed by Mr. Arthur, the manager of that bank, to the effect that, he, the prisoner, had money deposited there which could not be withdrawn in less that two months, but which was declared by that gentleman to be a forgery, was again placed at the bar to-day in company with police detective Forman whom Brown alleged had given him document, and the usual caution having been given they declined to make any statement and were both committed for trial at the Supreme Court, Forman being admitted to bail on two sureties of $250 each, but bail for the other prisoner was refused.

A Hint for Tourists.

We beg to call the attention of the members of the Alpine and Canoe Clubs to the new and tempting field for their energies indicated by "Captain Valikhanof's Travels in Dzungaria, about the Lake of Issyk Kul, and in Little Bokhara," translated from the Russian by John and Robert Mitchell, and published in a work entitled "The Russians in Central Asia." The captain being the son of a "Turcoman" chieftain educated in Europe was enabled to join a Bokhara caravan, and mingle freely as an Asiatic in native society. He and his party were for some time neighbours of a Burut camp, and dances of raw damsels, many elaborate caresses by Burut damsels, which he describes as singularly attractive. The engraving which he gives of his favourite Burut beauty is not, however, encouraging. He once dined with the patriarch of the tribe, "who was extremely civil, although he frequently cursed the tombs of our fathers." The Buruts consider it a sin to cleanse their culinary utensils save with their fingers, for they hold that "to purify their bowls is to scare away abundance." They never change their shirts, and when in mourning—and indeed at most other times—scrupulously abstain from ablution; consequently, Captain Valikhanoff and his friends did not accept any further hospitalities from their polite, but maledictory host, who, nevertheless, persisted in looking in upon the Europeans every day at their meal-times, accompanied by a large and half-starved family, whose appetites extended even to the captains' store of sealing wax. The morality, education, and piety of these children of nature harmonise admirably with their cleanliness. They rob freely with a sneaking dexterity, but object so strongly to be themselves robbed that on one occasion they skinned alive a stranger whom they suspected of abstractive practices, and boiled his body in a caldron. Their women are notoriously unchaste, and their husbands trade in their unchastity. The great glory of the male Buruts is to be able to drink two quarts of brandy a day, and then gallop home without falling from their horses. By courtesy they rank as Mahometans, but "are not only ignorant of the ninety-nine names of Allah, but even of the name of their prophet." And the only religious rite they do observe (besides a strict abstinence from ablution) "is to light nine lumps, and throw grease and refrain from spitting into the fire on Thursday nights." They are passionately addicted to singing, and their higher and more favorite notes resemble the braying of an ass. Such are the Buruts, as described by Captain Valikhanof, who yet possess two epics, the "Manas" and the Samyatei," and whose ancestor, their own legends say, was a tame red house dog. The abundance of lakes and rivers in the country over which they range, and their own romantic and original character, will doubtless attract next year to their camps many members of the Canoe and Alpine Clubs.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A NEW AMERICAN IRON-CLAD RAM.—A correspondent of the Herald writes:—"The Dunderberg! Such is the awful name of a gigantic ram, which has been built in the dockyard of Mr. Webbe, at New York. She is 380 feet long, 72 feet in width in her central part, and of 5,000 tons burden; she displaces a quantity of water equal to 7,000 tons, and her armour of iron plates weighs 1,000 tons. This vessel is built upon a model entirely different from that of the Monitors and of the new ironsides. Her outward appearance resembles that of the Merrimac, the famous Confederate ram. Her battery, which is to be armed with fifteen or sixteen heavy guns, forms under the deck a casemate with sloping sides, upon which the enemy's missiles, it is supposed, will glance harmlessly off. The height of this casemate is about eight feet. She has gun-ports on every side, which open and shut by the motion of a steam-engine. But what renders the Dunderberg more redoubtable is a great moveable spur of 50 feet long, which forms before the vessel a kind of sword rising above the water 21 feet. Her speed is remarkable. During her trial she ran easily nine knots under a small canvas, and it is estimated that if the full power of the screw was put in action she could do from 16 to 18 knots. Her engines are of 5,000-horse power. During her trial voyage the Dunderberg performed the manœuvre of veering round, in order to fire her broadsides successively. The ram went round 41 times in a space equal to the half of her total length, and each turn lasted about three minutes and a half. So that once in action she could successively fire 17 broadsides in an hour without changing place, and consequently without leaving the line of battle which she occupied. Such a result no man of war has attained till now. According to a despatch received through the Atlantic cable, it appears that the Prussian Government has an intention of buying this ship, but there is no reason to believe that she is for sale.

The Coming Reform Bill.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, probably still Tom Taylor, writes:—

There is reason for believing that the leaders of the party now in office are preparing to make a determined, if not a desperate, stand before again renouncing power. They have been given to understand that, should the Queen's Speech at the opening of the session omit a pledge in favour of reform, an amendment declaring its necessity will probably be moved, as in 1859; and, though the Adullamites should hold together and vote with Ministers, it is felt that the administration could not be carried on till Easter in the face of such an Opposition. The belief gains ground, therefore, that a franchise bill, outbidding Mr. Gladstone's as regards the towns, is more than contemplated by the younger and more venturous spirits of the Tory Party. At every turn one is met with the significant question, "Why not give the suffrage in boroughs to every one who is rated?" This, in fact, would be to adopt the municipal franchise for parliamentary elections, leaving the point of exemption from rating, as now, to the discretion of the local authorities, and establishing the principle of there being but one roll of registered citizens. For London this would, of course, be nugatory, unless tenants of portions of houses continuously resident for a fixed time were permitted the option of being rated; and the qualifying period, now practically three years, would, especially for this class of claimants, be deemed too long. But these are details admitting of modifications. The idea has in it, at all events, the merit of simplicity and of broadly and plainly expressing the old constitutional notion that whoever pays taxes may vote. Right or wrong, it is certain that the notion has been put about in Conservative circles lately in a way that would be incredibly fatuous if nothing is to come of it.

SOMETHING WRONG IN THE GRENADIER GUARDS.—"Civilian" writes:—"I am in the habit of passing through the Tower daily, twice and sometimes more, and from what I have noticed of the Grenadier Guards doing duty, there must be something wrong either with the men or their commanders. As I never pass in or out, but I see from 60 to 70 of the regiment in heavy marching order trotting round what they call the bull-ring, nor do I pass a day that I do not see men handcuffed, marching between a file of soldiers, going to prison. On inquiring of one of the non-commissioned officers why the men of his regiment should degrade themselves so much, his answer was that the regiment had 80 men in prison since they came to the Tower, not yet a month. The warders, all old soldiers, all tell me that they are not only ashamed, but disgusted, in seeing the number of soldiers moving round no less than three circles three times daily, one hour each time, from 10 o'clock until 11, from 2 till 3, and 4 till 5, that it is sometimes almost impossible for them to get the visitors through the bull-ring circles, as they completely block the square from the Jewel House to the Beauchamp Tower, or State prison; and that foreigners are totally at a loss to know what new system of drill the English have discovered, little thinking it to be punishment."—United Service Gazette.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hongkong, Thursday Evening.

In the absence of any later advices by the Malacca, and the non arrival of the Calcutta steamer, the Opium market has been rather quiet to-day, and transactions have been almost entirely speculative. Patna under the influence of a "Bear" movement has been fluctuating between $610 and $615, but the business in progress has been small, as the trade are waiting the arrival of the Eleventh Sales Opium now due by the Clan Alpine, before resuming operations in earnest. The closing quotations are $612½ for Patna both cash and of the Eleventh Sales. 602½ for Benares, and $800 for Malwa. There is a report this evening that the Clan Alpine is outside at anchor, but little credit is given to the rumor. There has been an improved inquiry for Cotton, and in some cases slightly better prices have been obtained. Sales yesterday are reported of 500 bales Bengal at $21.50 to 23.25, and 400 bales Tientsin at $23; to-day of 350 bales Bengal at $21.75 to $22.75, and 350 bales Tientsin at $23.25. A limited movement has been in progress in Piece Goods, and there appears to be some inquiry for 8/4 Shirtings, and 7lbs. T-Cloths, but buyers seem very unwilling to come up to the demands of holders; in fact the Chinese are evidently using their best efforts to "Bear" the market down to their own ideas.—2 purchases have currently been reported by them of 8/4 Shirting at $3.87, and $3.85 and of T-Cloths at $3.00, and $3.05, while no such transactions have in reality taken place, the entire stock of the latter article at present in the market being in the hands of only two holders, who demand much higher figures than the above. The only sale reported to-day is 204 pieces Spanish Stripes at 94 cents and 1,000 pieces 10lbs. Grey Shirtings sold yesterday at $5.35. The Rice market is firm but without any alteration and no sales are reported. Shares and Exchange are quiet but with a downward tendency. The Catherine Apcar, has been chartered for Shanghai at $10,000 by Messrs. Russell & Co., and carries a cargo consisting mostly of Sugar. The mail now about due is looked for with some anxiety in view of reports that are current as to the failure of two houses at home with China connections, and by which either a confirmation or denial of the rumor is expected.

The Coming Reform Bill.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, probably still Tom Taylor, writes:—

There is reason for believing that the leaders of the party now in office are preparing to make a determined, if not a desperate, stand before again renouncing power. They have been given to understand that, should the Queen's Speech at the opening of the session emit a pledge in favour of reform, an amendment declaring its necessity will probably be moved, as in 1859; and, though the Adullamites should hold together and vote with Ministers, it is felt that the administration could not be carried on till Easter in the face of such an Opposition. The belief gains ground, therefore, that a franchise bill, outbidding Mr. Gladstone's as regards the towns, is more than contemplated by the younger and more venturous spirits of the Tory Party. At every turn one is met with the significant question, "Why not give the suffrage in boroughs to every one who is rated?" This, in fact, would be to adopt the municipal franchise for parliamentary elections, leaving the point of exemption from rating, as now, to the discretion of the local authorities, and establishing the principle of there being but one roll of registered citizens. For London this would, of course, be nugatory, unless tenants of portions of houses continuously resident for a fixed time were permitted the option of being rated; and the qualifying period, now practically three years, would, especially for this class of claimants, be deemed too long. But these are details admitting of modifications. The idea has in it, at all events, the merit of simplicity and of broadly and plainly expressing the old constitutional notion that whoever pays taxes may vote. Right or wrong, it is certain that the notion has been put about in Conservative circles lately in a way that would be incredibly fatuous if nothing is to come of it.

SOMETHING WRONG IN THE GRENADIER GUARDS.—"Civilian" writes:—"I am in the habit of passing through the Tower daily, twice and sometimes more, and from what I have noticed of the Grenadier Guards doing duty, there must be something wrong either with the men or their commanders, as I never pass in or out but I see from 60 to 70 of the regiment in heavy marching order trotting round what they call the bull-ring, nor do I pass a day that I do not see men handcuffed, marching between a file of soldiers, going to prison. On inquiring of one of the non-commissioned officers why the men of his regiment should degrade themselves so much, his answer was that the regiment had 80 men in prison since they came to the Tower, not yet a month. The warders, all old soldiers, all tell me that they are not only ashamed, but disgusted, in seeing the number of soldiers moving round no less than three circles three times daily, one hour each time, from 10 o'clock until 11, from 2 till 3, and 4 till 5, that it is sometimes almost impossible for them to get the visitors through the bull-ring circles, as they completely block the square from the Jewel House to the Beauchamp Tower, or State prison; and that foreigners are totally at a loss to know what new system of drill the English have discovered, little thinking it to be punishment."—United Service Gazette.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hongkong, Thursday Evening.

In the absence of any later advices by the Malacca, and the non arrival of the Calcutta steamer, the Opium market has been rather quiet to-day, and transactions have been almost entirely speculative. Patna under the influence of a "Bear" movement has been fluctuating between $610 and $615, but the business in progress has been small, as the trade are waiting the arrival of the Eleventh Sales Opium now due by the Clan Alpine, before resuming operations in earnest. The closing quotations are $612½ for Patna both cash and of the Eleventh Sales, 602½ for Benares, and $800 for Malwa. There is a report this evening that the Clan Alpine is outside at anchor, but little credit is given to the rumor. There has been an improved inquiry for Cotton, and in some cases slightly better prices have been obtained. Sales yesterday are reported of 500 bales Bengal at $21.50 to 23.25, and 100 bales Tientsin at $23; to-day of 350 bales Bengal at $21.75 to $22.75, and 350 bales Tientsin at $23.25. A limited movement has been in progress in Piece Goods, and there appears to be some inquiry for 8/4 Shirtings and 7lbs. T-Cloths, but buyers seem very unwilling to come up to the demands of holders; in fact the Chinese are evidently using their best efforts to "Bear" the market down to their own ideas—2 purchases have currently been reported by them of 8/4 Shirting at $3.6½, and $3.65 and of T-Cloths at $3.00 and $3.05, while no such transactions have in reality taken place, the entire stock of the latter article at present in the market being in the hands of only two holders, who demand much higher figures than the above. The only sale reported to-day is 204 pieces Spanish Stripes at 94 cents and 1,000 pieces 10lbs. Grey Shirtings sold yesterday at $5.35. The Rice market is firm but without any alteration and no sales are reported. Shares and Exchange are quiet but with a downward tendency. The Catherine Apcar, has been chartered for Shanghai at $10,000 by Messrs. Russell & Co., and carries a cargo consisting mostly of Sugar. The mail now about due is looked for with some anxiety in view of reports that are current as to the failure of two houses at home with China connections, and by which either a confirmation or denial of the rumor is expected.

Gossip from Paris.

The correspondent of the Morning Post writes:—

"The Bois de Boulogne is just now worth a visit, although no Gladiateur may be running and winning. The late long and heavy rains have kept the trees green this year, and the gardening skill of the Parisian horticulturists appears very conspicuous. Not only in the Bois, but all along the Champs-Elysées, the beds and plots of earth which circle the fountains are supplied with plants and shrubs and large flowers, many of which are new to Paris. I do not know their names, but I am told that they are imported from various parts of the world, and are being acclimatised in the public gardens. You see here and there a cluster of broad leaves spring out of the ground in healthy greenness, and spreading their grand fans a couple of yards high. The gardener tells me that this is an American importation. Round below is a dwarfish red plant, which is cultivated as a border. Each will live out the winter. In another bed you find such plants as we used formerly to see only in a conservatory; some of the fern class. Then I am told that this long, drooping, graceful leaf is the hexacornea tuberculata, and this the sempervirens something. But I think I had better not attempt the names, or I shall be sure to get into trouble, being profoundly ignorant of botany. It comes to this: the gardener has planted a number of showy, bold-leafed plants of varied colour, which are very effective, and are to last all the winter. Particular care has been taken with the different beds in the Champs Elysées, and the short, thick, bright grass which surrounds them is perfect. The public are so well educated that no protection in the way of railing is at all necessary. It is not only round the lakes of the Bois and the Champs Elysées that these horticultural triumphs appear; but in the many public gardens all over the city of new and Imperial Paris you meet a novel and agreeable display of varied green decorative plants refreshing to the eye, which the gardener has arranged "with nice art, in beds and curious knots." As I was out and about yesterday, permit me to continue my latest out door intelligence. I go over the ground which the Emperor has commanded to be cleared fronting the Champ de Mars, and which was but yesterday crossed by the old roads to Passy. Already this wide district is traced by proposed boulevards. The roads and pathways are complete. Rows of young trees, and seats, and lamp-posts tell you where the houses will rise; in fact, some foundations are already laid. Here again Paris is spreading wonderfully. I wish my architectural friend A— had been with me yesterday to assist, as he has done before, in describing the modern architecture of new Paris. In this direction, and not far from the Arc de L'Etoile, I came upon several scarcely completed handsome white stone mansions, built, I learn, by rich Russians and other foreigners. They are imposing buildings, very rich in figure and floral decorations. They represent no order of architecture; no great period of architectural history; but are made up from Doric, Ionic, Corinthian, the middle age palaces of Italy; in fact, a costly patchwork affair, as if the designer had taken a lot of engravings of all architectural dates, and stolen hints from all, and thus made up a muddle of his own composing. I find in one palace almost a complete copy of one of the palaces of Venice and at the entrance are two groups of grotesque wild Indians holding up fruits. However, the cost of the building must be very great, for, as before observed, rich ornamentation in stone is the prevailing fashion. A Government authority told me some time since that there was an ever-augmenting increase of rich foreigners who would live part of the year in Paris. Not English. There are fewer rich English in Paris than in the days of the Bourbons. The rich foreigners referred to are Russians, Italians, Americans, Spaniards, Brazilians, &c. A Russian, after living at Paris for some time, finds St. Petersburg dull; a Spaniard prefers Paris to Madrid, and says the former city is now cheaper; Americans, we know, regard Paris as paradise "to which all good Americans go after death;" and Italians and other foreigners are equally in love with a city which offers so many cosmopolitan advantages. Of course it is the facility of railway travelling which enables some of the large fortunes of Europe to come to Paris for a few months every year; that is the great secret of this importation of rich families from all quarters of Europe. France could never supply tenants to the endless magnificent houses and apartments which continue to be built in all directions; and at a cost which will never pay."

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—We are getting no trustworthy intelligence from Candia, although the general tenor of such as we do receive certainly points to the extinction of the insurrection. There is one circumstance, however, to which several of our foreign contemporaries are calling attention, which has not received in England the notice that it might have been expected to attract—the principal part assigned to the Viceroy of Egypt in the war upon the Candiotes. It is true that this participation of a Mahommedan vassal of the Porte in the work of quelling an insurrection of Christians is by no means without precedent. The Sultan cannot lay claim to the assistance of the Viceroy of Egypt. At this moment there are 25,000 Egyptian troops in Candia, maintained at the Viceroy's exclusive charge; and his Highness has engaged to send more, if more are required. This intervention of the Viceroy in a quarrel which does not belong to him must be assumed to take place with the consent of the great European Powers, or, to speak plainly, of the Governments of England and France, since without that consent it would have been impossible. We do not overlook the difficulties of the case, or the extreme desirability of postponing as long as possible the inevitable catastrophe of the Ottoman Empire, when we affirm that this alliance between two Mahommedan and semi-barbarous States to hold a Christian people in a hateful bondage is a shame and a disgrace to the Powers by whom it is tolerated.—Daily News.

THE DISTRACTED ALMANACH DE GOTHA.—We read in All the Year Round:—There is consternation in the editorial room at Gotha. The Almanach for 1867 was almost ready to be launched forth into the world, when, lo! like the simoom, Prussia sweeps over the north of Germany, and kings and princes are carried away by the blast like so many reeds; even the stalwart tree of Austria has lost many of its branches, blown away by the storm, though the stem still stands firm on its deep-set roots. The hurricane has lulled; the Treaty of Prague calms for a time the troubled elements; diplomacy has done its work! But it is a much easier task to sign a treaty and exchange ratifications than to re-write a compendium like the Almanach de Gotha. . . . The whole German Confederation is extinguished, and Frankfort, the seat of the Diet, annexed; consequently the 32 States, including the Hanse Towns, must be struck out of the Almanach, and the North German Confederation above the Maine inserted instead. As regards the embryo Confederation of the Southern States, all is chaos. Then Austria has lost Venetia. Denmark has lost the Duchies, and, worst of all, no one knows whether the few remaining nineteen will not be bowled down by some strong arm. . . . It is easier to shoot a lion with a single bullet than to exterminate a nest of wasps. Saxony is not yet annexed; and may remain intact in the Almanach of 1867; but Hanover, Nassau, Hesse Cassel, Darmstadt, and others, must all have a pen struck through them, and be added to Prussia. Prussia is like the devil-fish described by Victor Hugo in his "Travailleur de la Mer." It holds in its strangling grip all the petty princes of Germany. We are in October; the Continental arrangements are by no means settled, and the Almanach must appear on the 1st of January! We have good reason for saying again that consternation prevails in the editor's room at Gotha.

REDUCTION
In the rates of premium for FIRE INSURANCE.
THE undersigned have (as already intimated in their Circular dated 14th October last, received authority from the Secretary of the Royal Insurance Company to reduce the rate of Premium under certain circumstances, on private residences and on Furniture and effects therein contained.
In cases of Dwelling Houses removed from the Town the rate of premium will be three-quarters per cent. in place of one per cent. per annum as hitherto charged, and in cases of Residences so situated being detached or semi-detached the rate will be further reduced to one-half per cent.
The Royal's annual rates for Fire Insurance on the various classes of Buildings and their contents will therefore remain as follows until further notice, viz:—
Detached and semi-detached Dwelling Houses (removed from the Town) and their contents ½ per cent.
Other Dwelling Houses (similarly situated) and their contents ¾ per cent.
